SAMFORD UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

CUMBERLAND SCHOOL OF LAW

ACCREDITATION

The School of Law is fully approved by all national and state accrediting agencies. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is fully approved by the American Bar Association through its Section of Legal Education, and is also approved by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York. Because of this approval, a graduate of the School of Law is eligible to take the bar examination in any State in the Union. The School is also approved by the Veterans Administration for the training of veterans.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF LAW SCHOOL

The program of the School of Law seeks to maintain high standards of legal education and thereby to prepare young men and women of intelligence, industry and character for the practice of law, and to provide legal training for those planning to enter business or public service. The aim is to develop the analytical powers of the student, as well as to provide him with a knowledge of legal principles and their historical development, and at the same time to instill in each student a high sense of the ethics of the profession.

The School of Law is an integral part of Samford University and the objectives of the university are the objectives of the Law School within its sphere as applied to its specialty. The School of Law is church related and it seeks to offer a distinctive program emphasizing Christian precepts which are interwoven into our legal principles. The School is determined to teach the significance of law as a genuine part of the culture of the nation and to instill in the student a sense of social responsibility in the context of Christian ethics and the highest traditions of the legal profession. There is a conscious effort to develop all of the technical skills necessary for the lawyer, and to develop proficiency in legal reasoning and competence in legal method.

The School of Law recognizes the strategic importance of the legal profession which has almost exclusive control over the judiciary of our states and our nation and largely dominates the legislative and executive branches of our national and state governments. Being under the auspices of a denomination which has always stood for the absolute spiritual freedom of the individual, the school emphasizes the American concept of maximum liberty in every phase of life for each individual, consistent with order in society. A Southern Baptist Law School without this emphasis would not be in harmony with its constituency.

It is our aim to expound a philosophy of law to the student which will recognize that all human law is valid and enduring only to the extent that it is in accord, directly or indirectly, with the eternal principles of God, which some refer to as natural law.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL OF LAW

The Cumberland School of Law was established in Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tennessee, October 1, 1847, as a result of the action of the Board of Trustees taken on February 22, 1847. When the School of Law opened, the course of study comprised two years of law without any definite pre-legal requirements. In 1871 the course of study was reduced to one year; this plan was continued until 1935, with major emphasis on the textbook plan of study. On July 10, 1946, the two-year plan was officially closed. Beginning in September, 1946, the requirements of the School of Law were established as follows: (1) two years of pre-legal college work with a minimum of 96 quarter hours; (2) three years of full-time study of law. In September, 1952, the pre-legal college work requirement was increased to three years. (3) In September, 1965, the pre-legal college work requirements was raised to a baccalaureate degree.

The School of Law, as it is now constituted, requires a baccalaureate degree before entrance or within twelve months thereafter. Three academic years or the equivalent of six semesters is required in the full-time program and four academic years or the equivalent of eight semesters is required in the Extended (Evening) Division. The satisfactory completion of this work entitles the student to the Juris Doctor Degree.

In February, 1949, provisional approval was given the Cumberland School of Law of Cumberland University by the American Bar Association. Full approval was granted by the American Bar Association in September of 1952. In November of 1952 the School was registered by the Board of Regents of the State of New York. In December of 1952 the school was granted membership in the Association of American Law Schools. This gained for the School of Law every recognition possible for an American law school.

The Cumberland School of Law became a part of Samford University, then Howard College, in Birmingham, Alabama, on June 27, 1961.

ALUMNI

Since 1847, the School of Law has awarded over 8,200 Bachelor of Laws degrees and over 150 Juris Doctor degrees. Alumni are to be found in all fifty states of the nation, the District of Columbia, the Philippines, the Canal Zone, and Puerto Rico. Graduates of the Cumberland School of Law have also come from such foreign countries as Canada, Cuba, Egypt, Japan, Korea, Mexico, and Pakistan. Many of them now occupy distinguished positions of high responsibility in education, government, and business. Thus the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University is one of the very few truly national law schools in the South.

Among its more than 8,400 alumni, over 4,000 of whom are now living, the School of Law has produced ten governors, two United States Supreme Court justices, a Secretary of State of the United States, ten United States senators, seventy-five United States representatives, numerous supreme court justices of the various states, federal district and appellate judges, state appellate judges, state attorneys general, lieutenant governors, United States and state district attorneys, diplomatic officials, college presidents, law professors, distinguished legal writers and scholars, administrative officials of the United States and state governments. Also, a large number of outstanding practitioners, corporate heads, circuit judges, chancellors, members of state legislatures, county judges, and other county and municipal officials received their legal training at the Cumberland School of Law.

Through the years, the Cumberland School of Law has been regularly staffed with many brilliant legal scholars—distinguished men like Abraham Caruthers, author of Caruthers' History of Law-suit; Dr. Andrew C. Martin; Nathan Green, Sr.; Nathan Green, Jr.; Grafton Green; A. B. Neil; Sam B. Gilreath, revisor of History of a Lawsuit and editorial consultant for the new Tennessee Code, and many other outstanding leaders of the profession. The current faculty is the largest and strongest in the school's long history.

LOCATION

Samford's new four-hundred-acre campus of Colonial-Georgian architecture is one of the most beautiful in the entire nation. Located in the picturesque mountainous area of Shades Valley, the college has unlimited possibilities for continued growth and development.

Birmingham, Alabama's largest city, is the state's industrial, business, and cultural center. Fine facilities are available for recreational pursuits.

The university, easily reached by an excellent system of railways, air lines and highways, is one of the state's leading tourist attractions.

The home of the School of Law is the dignified and imposing Memory Leake Robinson Hall in the center of the campus, just to the East of the main library.

SAMFORD UNIVERSITY

Samford University opened its doors on January 3, 1842, in Marion, Alabama, as Howard College. Founded by a group of educational, economic and religious leaders, it has survived two destructive fires, the partial paralysis of the Civil War and Reconstruction and, in 1887, the relocation to Birmingham.

In 1920 Howard College gained membership in the Southern Association of Colleges. The establishment of the Teacher Education Division in 1914 and the Division of Pharmacy in 1927 highlighted the school's continuous growth throughout the years.

In 1947 the trustees of the institution acquired a tract of 400 acres in Shades Valley in the Homewood-Mountain Brook section of Birmingham. The Alabama Baptist State Convention authorized the building of a new campus on this site, and work was begun in 1954. The institution moved to the new site in the summer of 1957.

The historic and renowned Cumberland School of Law, established in 1847, at Lebanon, Tennessee, was acquired in 1961. In 1965 the Master's Degree Program was reinstituted. This development, coupled with the existing diversity of degree programs and the outstanding caliber of the faculty personnel, resulted in Howard College's official elevation to university status on November 9, 1965.

The new university was named for Frank Park Samford, member of one of Alabama's most respected Baptist families, chairman of the Howard Board of Trustees and the institution's most generous individual benefactor.

In 1966 the Division of Business Administration, the Division of Pharmacy and the Division of Teacher Education were elevated to school status to become the School of Business, the School of Pharmacy and the School of Education respectively, each with an administrative dean.

The historic Howard College continues in existence but as part of a greater institution, Samford University, whose growth and progress remain an unending process.

PURPOSE

The purpose of Samford University is to promote Christianity through the development of Christian character, a sense of personal responsibility, and the opportunity and the stimulus for each student to secure a broad and academically sound education in a positive Christian environment. To this end, Samford University attempts to define and convey to the student the Christian world view.

In fulfilling such a purpose, Samford University seeks to develop Christian leaders for widely varied fields of service. It strives constantly for academic excellence in conscious expression of the Christian faith with its commitment to the primacy of truth, its concern for human values and the inter-relationship of faith and reason. Samford also steadfastly endeavors to create and nurture an atmosphere conducive to the Christian ethic.

ACADEMIC INFORMATION

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRANCE

PRE-LEGAL EDUCATION

Preparation for law study, as well as for later life, is best based on a broad liberal arts background, rather than on a narrowly specialized one. The Cumberland School of Law of Samford University has no set pre-law curriculum requirements for admission. Each person's qualifications will be evaluated individually. Rather than attempting to prescribe the specific content of the individual courses taken by a pre-law student, the Cumberland School of Law places greater emphasis on the student's ability to read and comprehend accurately, thoroughly and rapidly, to speak and write clearly and correctly, to think precisely and logically, to analyze complex fact situations, and to weigh and appraise legal and other materials. It is believed that to accomplish these purposes a student should take as much college work as possible. It is suggested the pre-legal program of study include English composition and literature, economics, history, political science, philosophy, psychology and other subjects in the field of social sciences, as well as courses in the natural sciences, mathematics and accounting. It is believed that the above suggestions will tend to prepare the prospective law student academically and will also help make him aware of the moral and ethical principles inculcated in the Judaic-Christian tradition upon which western civilization is based.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

The Cumberland School of Law selects its students from the following classes of applicants:

(1) Applicants who present evidence that they are graduates of an accredited college, and

(2) Applicants who will complete requirements for the baccalaureate degree (A.B. or B.S.) within twelve months after entering law school. This provision is included so that all moral obligations as to combination degrees may be fulfilled by the institution. This provision will not apply after September, 1967.

(3) A $25.00 application deposit must accompany the application for admission. The deposit will be applied as payment on the fees for the first semester in residence. The deposit will be refunded if the applicant is rejected. If the application is cancelled at least 60 days before the beginning of the term for which application is made, one-half may be refunded. If notice of cancellation is not received at least 60 days before the term begins, no refund can be made. An incomplete application does not constitute a rejection. If the deposit is submitted within the 60 day period it is not refundable if the application is cancelled or not completed.

Applicants are selected on the basis of their Law School Admission Test scores, the quality of their college work, and their general fitness for the study of law. Women are admitted on equal terms with men.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST

All applicants for admission as beginning law students must take the Law School Admission Test. Any applicant failing to take the test or failing to obtain a postponement prior to registration is ineligible to register for work in the Cumberland School of Law. The grade received on the test will be considered in determining whether or not the applicant shall be admitted to the School of Law and/or continued in the School of Law.

Information regarding the test may be secured from the office of the Law School at Samford University or from the Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey.

The Law School Admission Test is given on the Samford University campus four times each calendar year. The dates for the tests are set for November, February, April, and August. Applications for this test should be made well in advance of the day the test is given.

ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants who have met the admission requirements and who have also earned credits in another law school approved by the American Bar Association may be given advanced standing. Such applicants should request the registrar of each law school attended to send directly to the Office of the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law at Samford University, transcripts of their complete records, together with honorable dismissals from the school(s) last attended. An evaluation of these records will be made available to the Committee on Admissions and Advanced Standing, and credit may be allowed. If full credit is allowed, the work must equal in amount and character that required by the Cumberland School of Law. Provisional credit is first given; this becomes permanent at the end of the first year of residence if all work in the Cumberland School of Law has been satisfactory. The Cumberland School of Law reserves the right to reduce credit, or to refuse credit, if conditions so warrant. Credit for extension work, including that taken by correspondence, is not accepted. No student shall be admitted to advanced standing who has failed the bar examination of any state as many as three times. No student will be considered for admission if he is ineligible to return to the school last attended.

To be eligible for the degree of Juris Doctor, a transfer student must have completed one full academic year of residence in the Cumberland School of Law, including the year immediately preceding the granting of such degree and the last twenty-six semester hours of credit. He must also maintain a satisfactory grade average on work taken at Cumberland. No transfer student will be accepted to the Senior Class who is not in the top 25 percent of his class at the law school last attended.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

A special student is defined as a person who cannot satisfy the entrance requirements established for candidates for the law degree, but who gives evidence of ability to profit by the study of law, and who has reached some maturity, not being less than 23 years of age. Under exceptional circumstances, an approved school may admit some of these students, as a matter of discretion, but usually will not confer a degree upon such a student. At this time, the Cumberland School of Law will not consider a special student for admission. However, a person may be accepted, as a "Cumberland Special" if he meets the minimum American Bar Association standard of 96 semester hours but does not have a baccalaureate degree. A "Cumberland Special" student will receive a Bachelor of Laws degree instead of the Juris Doctor.

INDIVIDUAL COURSES AND AUDITING

Enrollment for individual courses is permitted with special permission. To receive academic credit, the applicant must meet the regular requirements for admission. A member of the Bar who does not seek academic credit may enroll for a course without meeting other admission requirements. He may take the examination or not, at his option.

COMBINATION ARTS-LAW DEGREE

In a number of colleges and universities a student who has completed three years of work towards the A.B. or equivalent degree will be allowed to spend a year of law study elsewhere and count such year of law credit as the final year of work for the literary degree. Students interested in this combination should consult their own college officials as to its possibility. Combination degree candidates will be accepted at the Cumberland School of Law through the fall semester of 1967.

This program has been discontinued but all students who entered Samford University under this program may enter the Cumberland School of Law through September, 1967 registration.

The combined degree program has been discontinued at the University and the law school will require a baccalaureate degree without exceptions beginning January, 1968. Any baccalaureate degree will be sufficient to meet this requirement.

REGULAR AND EXTENDED PROGRAM

Two programs of study are available, the regular and the extended (evening) programs, both having the same content, however. A student following the regular program will attend classes during the day, will carry from twelve to fifteen hours each semester, and may arrange his schedule so as to graduate at the end of his third academic year, though not before. A student following the extended program will attend classes in the evening and on Saturday morning, presently will carry no more than ten hours each semester, and may expect to study for at least four years before his graduation. A student in the regular program might attend class at any time during the day, and should not attempt to perform any substantial outside employment. A student employed more than twenty hours per week cannot follow or remain in the regular program. Any student in the regular program may be required to give evidence of his outside employment.

The academic year consists of the fall and spring semesters. The School offers work also in an eight-week summer session.

TIME OF ENTRANCE

Beginning students are regularly admitted in the fall and spring semesters and for the summer term. Beginning students desiring to enter other than in September should consult with the Dean. Students who transfer from other law schools with the necessary prerequisites may enter the School of Law at the beginning of any semester.

REGISTRATION WITH THE STATE BAR COMMISSION

The State Bar Commission of Alabama requires that every person entering a law school with the intention of thereafter applying to the Alabama Bar must file a written notice of his or her intention to begin the study of law and thereafter apply for admission to the Alabama Bar with the Secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar.

Students who expect to practice law in states other than Alabama should investigate possible similar requirements in such states or should consult with the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law before registering.

The application forms used for registration with the State Bar Commission together with forms used for character affidavits and a sheet of instructions may be obtained from the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law or by writing directly to Judge John B. Scott, Secretary, Alabama State Bar, P. O. Box 2106, Montgomery, Alabama. Forms used for Tennessee registration may be obtained directly from the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law. Forms for Florida must now be obtained directly from James B. Tippin, Executive Director, Florida Board of Bar Examiners, Supreme Court Building, Tallahassee, Florida.

LATE ENROLLMENT, CHANGES OF SCHEDULES

1. No student shall be permitted to enroll in any course later than six days after classes in that course have begun.
2. All changes in schedules shall be adjusted during the first ten days of classes, and must be recorded in the Office of the Dean of the Cumberland School of Law by the student concerned.

DROPS

1. If a student who is doing satisfactory work drops a course the first eight weeks, or its equivalent, "WP" (withdrew passing) will be entered on his record. This carries no academic penalty.

2. If a student who is doing unsatisfactory work in a course drops it the first eight weeks or its equivalent, "WF" (withdrew failing) will be entered on his record and will carry a penalty as if it were an outright "F."

3. No voluntary withdrawals are permitted after the first eight weeks of a semester, or its equivalent.

4. If a student drops out of school or drops a course without notifying the Dean in writing, "XF," will be entered on his record with the same penalty as "F."

5. The date of the course drop will be the date the official drop card properly signed by the appropriate officials is returned to the office of the Dean.

WOMEN STUDENTS

Samford University is a co-educational institution, and women students are welcome in the School of Law.

EXAMINATIONS

Written examinations are conducted in each course at the end of every semester. A student must receive a grade of D or above in order to obtain credit. Regular attendance and satisfactory recitation in class are factors bearing upon the students eligibility to take examinations. Permission to be absent from or to make up a final examination must always be obtained from the Dean.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The case method of instruction, now employed in all leading American Law Schools, is followed in the Law School. The case books used in the various courses contain carefully organized selections of authoritative and significant opinions of the various courts of the United States and other countries which reveal the law in action and the reasons for its rules. The case method of instruction is supplemented by exercises in drafting various types of legal documents, by individual creative work in a number of the courses, and by Moot Court in which the student becomes acquainted with the more practical aspects of the practice of law. A comparatively small enrollment makes possible individual instruction not practicable in the larger schools.

Students are required to study and brief all assigned cases in each of the courses and to recite in class. Written final examinations are required in all courses at the end of each semester, except such courses as are not reasonably susceptible thereto.

The laws peculiar to Alabama are noted, but, since approximately forty percent of the students come from other states, the curriculum is designed to be sufficiently broad to prepare students for practice in all states.

MOOT COURT. Two hours of Moot Court are required for graduation since it is felt that this practical supplement to the regular classroom work is invaluable. Under the direction of members of the faculty, students are given special training in the preparation of cases for trial and in the presentation of cases before a trial court consisting of judge and jury, and the briefing and argument of a case before an appellate court.

COURSE OF STUDY. The course requires a period of three academic years or 6 semesters of study for the full-time students. By attending continuously during the regular school year and the summer sessions it is possible to complete the work required for the degree in twenty-seven months. Eight semesters or four academic years are required for the extended (evening) division.

UNIT OF CREDIT. The semester hour is the unit of credit. A semester hour represents a fifty-minute period of acceptable class work each week for a period of approximately eighteen weeks.

NORMAL CREDIT LOAD. The normal academic load for a student in good standing is thirteen to fifteen hours each semester. The maximum load that can be undertaken without the explicit permission of the Dean is fifteen hours. At least ten hours must be taken before a student can be classified as full-time. The normal load in the extended (evening) division is eight to eleven hours.

EXTRA COURSES. As a general rule no student should attempt to carry more than the normal credit load of fourteen hours. Certain strong students may be allowed, however, to take extra course work. A student becomes eligible to take extra courses for credit only when he has established a quality-point ratio of 2.00 and gained the consent of the Dean. Under no circumstances will a student be allowed to take more than sixteen hours. In no circumstances will an evening student be allowed to take more than twelve hours.

GRADES AND REPORTS

THE GRADING SYSTEM. Students are graded in their academic achievements according to a system of letter grades. The various letters used in grading and their meanings are listed below.

- A—denotes work of finest quality and is earned by a very small percentage of a class.
- B—denotes superior work of better than average quality.
- C—denotes good work of medium or average quality. Since C is the average grade, it is usually the most frequently assigned of any of the grades.
- D—denotes poor work that is definitely inferior to average quality.
- F—denotes failure. F indicates that the student's work is not equal to the minimum standard of achievement expected. This is a permanent grade, and the student must repeat the course if he should desire credit in the subject.
- I—denotes incompleteness. This is a temporary grade which must be replaced by a permanent one within one semester's time. If the student does not complete the work within the proper time, the I will be changed to F.
- WP—indicates that the student has been permitted to withdraw from the course without discredit. WP will be given in any course which the student drops prior to the end of the eighth week of the semester while doing passing work. No voluntary withdrawals are permitted thereafter.
- WF—indicates that the student's work was not of passing quality at the time of his withdrawal. This grade is permanent.

The grades A, B, C, D, and F are assigned by the instructors, and they are permanent grades. Once they have been placed on the official record sheet, the instructors cannot change them. The numerical equivalents are:

A—90-100

B—80-89

C—65-79

D—55-64

F— 0-54

In order to provide a more narrow classification and in order to be able to give an accurate class rank, the school of law maintains the student's average by the numerical system.

QUALITY POINTS. The faculty rates students also by the quality of work represented by the grades which have been defined in the paragraphs preceding. Thus, a term grade of A earns three quality points for each credit hour the course carries; B earns two quality points; C earns one quality point. D and F earn no quality points. To remain in good academic standing a student must maintain at least an average of C.

REPORT OF GRADES. Generally the report of a student's grades for each semester is sent to the student personally. Parents who desire reports of the grades of their son or daughter should write directly to the Dean of the Law School. Usually the grade reports are not ready until two weeks following the close of a semester.

ATTENDANCE IN CLASS. Regularity and punctuality in class attendance are strictly required. No student may take an examination or receive credit in a course if he has been absent in the course in excess of 20 per cent of the class periods. The Dean and the faculty will consider requests for permission to be absent because of emergency conditions. Absence from classes is a factor which may be taken into consideration in determining final grades.

RULES OF EXCLUSION AND RE-ADMISSION

1. A student in the Cumberland School of Law who, in his first semester, fails to obtain a grade average of at least a 0.8 will be placed on probation for one semester thereafter and if he fails to obtain a grade average of at least a "C" in the probation semester he will be dismissed because of poor academic standing. If such student obtains a grade average of at least a "C" in the probation semester, but fails in any subsequent semester to obtain a grade average of at least a "C", he may be dismissed because of poor academic standing.

2. A student who in any semester after his first in the Law School fails to obtain at least a grade of "C" in three courses or in courses totaling eight or more semester hours, may be dismissed because of poor academic standing.

3. A student who has been dismissed because of poor scholarship, under and of the preceding rules, may apply to the Committee on Exclusion and Re-Admission for re-admission to the Cumberland School of Law. His application must be in writing and state reasons for his belief that he can comply with the academic requirements of the Cumberland School of Law.

CONDUCT. Students of the School of Law are subject to all the general rules of Samford University, as set forth in the Student Handbook of the University as well as to the regulations of the School of Law. Any student who fails to make of himself a desirable member of the University and allows his conduct or influence to become objectionable and unworthy will be asked to withdraw. Any person who registers in the University agrees to this reserved right.

TERMS OF PAYMENT: The charges for the entire semester are due and payable at registration.

Students who wish to arrange a deferred payment plan are referred to the Birmingham Trust National Bank or any one of several lending and trust agencies which cooperate with the university in this connection. It should be noted that it is the sole responsibility of the student and/or his parents to make deferred payment arrangements in advance of registration. When the student presents his registration book to the Business Office at the beginning of the term, he must be prepared to pay the amount of his invoice in full unless there is already on deposit to his credit a sufficient amount to cover the semester's charges. Students and their parents who wish to investigate the various installment plans available are urged to consult the Business Manager or other personnel in the Business Office as early as possible before the beginning of the term.

CHECKS: The Business Office is authorized to cash checks up to $30.00 for students whose accounts are in good standing. Checks are also accepted for payments on accounts.

A student who presents a check to Samford University that is not subsequently honored by the bank on which the check is drawn will be charged one dollar if the check is redeemed within five school days after the date appearing on his notification of the check's return. After the five-day deadline, an additional charge of one dollar per day will be made until the check is redeemed. Students presenting checks at registration that are not honored by the bank and which must be collected after the normal registration period will be assessed the late registration fee of $10.00 in addition to the returned check charges.

REFUNDS: A student registers for the entire semester. In order to be eligible for any reduction in charges or refunds for withdrawal or suspension from university, the student must present an official withdrawal card dated and signed by the Dean of Law. In such cases, the following rules will apply (the first day of registration will be considered the first day of school):

1. If a student withdraws or is suspended within two weeks after the beginning of a semester, 80% of all tuition, fees and room rent will be refunded. In no case of withdrawal or suspension of a new student will the charge be less than $50.00.
2. If a student remains in college more than two weeks but less than six weeks, he will be required to pay the college 50% of all tuition, fees and room rent applying to that semester.
3. If a student remains in college as much as six weeks of any semester, he will be required to pay all charges for tuition, fees and room rent for the entire semester.

In no case of withdrawal or suspension of a student living in a residence hall will the $25.00 room deposit be refunded.

No deduction will be allowed for any course dropped after the Saturday of the second week of the term. The date of the drop of a class or of withdrawal from which all claims for deductions and refunds will be referred is the date appearing on the official withdrawal card signed by the Dean of Law and returned to the Business Office, or the postmark date of a letter requesting withdrawal.

5. The summer session refund policy for withdrawal or suspension is as follows:

1. Within the first week—80% of tuition, fees and room rent.
2. After the first week, but before the end of the second week 50% of tuition, fees and room rent.
3. After two weeks no refunds will be made.
In no case of withdrawal or suspension will the room deposit be refunded.

6. For purposes of computing adjustments, the first day of registration will be considered the first day of school.

7. For a student who moves from the residence hall during a term but who remains in school, the room rent refund will be computed on the same basis as a withdrawal refund.

SPECIAL INFORMATION FOR OCCUPANTS OF RESIDENCE HALLS

Residence halls for men and women are maintained by the university. An applicant desiring a room in the residence hall must complete and submit a room reservation request form which is a part of the application for admission. For those students living in the residence hall a room deposit of $25.00 is required as long as a room is occupied. If the reservation is cancelled at least 60 days before the beginning of the term, $12.50 of the room deposit will be refunded; if notice of cancellation is not received at least 60 days before the beginning of the term, no refund can be made. If the room is claimed as reserved the reservation fee becomes a security deposit as long as the room is occupied. If the student vacates a room at the end of a term after having given 30 days notice, the entire $25.00 will be refunded 2 weeks later, provided the room is in good order and keys are returned. The reservation fee of a student not admitted to the college will be refunded in full.

Students are admitted only by the Dean of the School of Law. The wise student will apply early for admission and housing. However, the room application will not be dated and processed until the application for admission to the Law School is approved.

Students must furnish their own pillows and linens and such bed cover as they may wish to use. They are asked not to bring curtains. Each occupant must draw a key to his room before entering the residence hall.

Heavy appliances such as irons, electric heaters, television sets, etc., are not to be used in the students' rooms. Provision is made in utility rooms for pressing clothing, and the student is expected to furnish his own iron for use there. Coin-operated laundry machinery is also provided in the utility rooms.

Arrangements are made with a reliable city laundry to collect laundry once a week. Each student is responsible for his laundry bill, payable when the laundry is delivered.

Regulations governing residence hall occupants are established by the administration. These regulations are published in The Student Handbook.

Residence halls will be closed during regular university recesses.

The assignment of space in the residence halls will be made in accordance with a parietal agreement between the University and the Housing and Home Finance Agency. This agreement requires that housing space on the campus be assigned in the following priority:

1. All rooms in men's and women's residence halls "A", otherwise known as project CH 53.
2. All rooms in men's and women's residence halls "B", otherwise known as project CH 8.
3. Any other rooms available for men and women students.

SPECIAL INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WISHING TO OPERATE AUTOMOBILES ON THE CAMPUS

Each student wishing to operate an automobile on the campus will be required to pay an "identification fee" when he registers. He will receive an operating permit decal which should be affixed in the approved manner to the driver's side of the back glass (rear view window). The approved procedure for applying the operating permit decal consists of removing the protective paper covering from the face of the decal and applying it firmly in place, face to the glass, on the driver's side of the rear view window. The window where the decal is placed should be clean and dry, and care should be taken to see that no air bubbles are left under the decal.

CAUTION: Failure to register a car and properly display the decal will subject the offender to a $5 fine.

Permits expire yearly on August 31 and must be renewed by the end of the second week of the fall semester if the car is to remain on the campus.

Ample room for parking is provided in clearly marked off-the-street parking areas. In the interest of safety and smooth traffic flow, no parking is permitted except in these areas.

A leaflet giving detailed traffic and parking regulations may be secured in the Business Office. Violation of traffic regulations will subject the student to disciplinary action and a fine.

CHAPEL ATTENDANCE

Regular Chapel attendance is regarded as a significant measure of a student's desire to participate in the spirit and customs of a university where the rightful place of worship, morality, and idealism in education is recognized. Because of a lack of space on the new campus, each student attends only one of the four regularly scheduled Chapel programs each week.

For each absence from Chapel in excess of three times during any semester, one-half credit hour is added to a student's requirement for graduation; thus, failure to attend Chapel at all during any semester will add seven credit hours to the requirements for graduation. All appeals to the Chapel Committee regarding penalties should be made within three weeks after the end of the semester.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS (LL.B.) AND JURIS DOCTOR (J.D.)

Students who have completed 88 semester hours of acceptable credit with a minimum quality-point ratio of 1.00 (a quality-point ratio of 1.00 being equivalent to an average grade of C) and who have acquired six semesters of prescribed residence credit in the regular division or eight semesters in the extended division will, upon recommendation of the faculty of the School of Law, be granted the degree of Juris Doctor or Bachelor of Laws. The last 26 semester hours of acceptable credit must have been earned in residence at the Cumberland School of Law of Samford University. Any other work credited towards a law degree at Cumberland must come by transfer of credit from a law school approved by the American Bar Association. The Bachelor of Laws degree will be conferred on candidates who have completed less than the Baccalaureate degree prior to completing requirements for a law degree.

COMBINATION J.D. AND M.B.A. OR M.A. PROGRAMS

A limited number of credit hours acceptable as part of the course load for the M.B.A. or for the M.A. in history and political science may be earned in the law school. The law school and graduate division of Samford University are now studying the feasibility of coordination which will result in a program designed to enable a student to use the summer terms following his first and second years in law school in meeting the requirements for both degrees. This will enable a student to graduate with his class and earn both the M.B.A. and J.D. or M.A. in history and political science and J.D. degrees in the time ordinarily required for the J.D. degree alone.
